DEMORSE'S INVICORATING CORDIAL

TOR GENITAL DEBILITY, IMPOTENCY, INCONTINENCE, OR NOOTURNAL EMISSIONS, &c.—The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine, for Lots of Muscular Energy, Physical Lassitude, and General Prostration, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, or indulgence of the passion in riper years, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered. In fact, as a remedy for the above complaints, it stands unrivalled and alone. There is no other reliable remedy, or any that has authentically received the sanction of the Medical Faculty. The WONDERFUL VEGETABLE PRADUCTION of which this medicine is composed has been tested, and its virtues proclaimed, by the highest names of the faculty of London, Paris, and the chief cities of Europe, as well as by eminent Physicians in this country. It is the only infallible remedy for NERVOUS, HEAD, and MIND COMPLAINTS—the mental physic so long sought for and never before found—the only agent that can administer to MIND DISEASES. It will remove all nervous affections. DEFRESSION, EXCITEMENT, incapacity to study or business, loss of MEMORY, CONFUSION, thoughts of self-destruction, fear of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by Sensual Excesses or ovil practices. It has been said by some that these disorders, emissions, &c., were incurable. This, however, is not the fact.

DR. MORSE'S INVIGORATING CORDIAL has cured, and is coustantly curing, these complaints—relieving the mental and bodily incapacity of the unfortunate sufferer, as is constantly curing, these complaints—relieving the stal and bodily incapacity of the unfortunate sufferer, as following testimony of the names received will conclusive show:

mental and bodily incapacity of the unfortunate sufferer, as the following testimony of the names received will conclusively show:

Dr. Woodward, of ——, Massachusetts Insane Hospital, writes of one of his patients being cured by using this Cordial thus: "It gives me pleasure to inform you that one of my patients, while in Boston, procured some of your Cordial. He tells me that he has not had a single emission since he commonced taking it, while before he had two or three a week. When he applied to me," says Dr. W., "I thought it hardly possible for him ever to regain his full strength. I prescribed the usual medicine used in those cases in the hospital, but they had no effect. In the mean time he purchased some of your Cordial, which has effected a cure I am sure no other medicine would. I shall ever recommend it, whenever an opportunity occurs."

The nature of the maladies relieved by this Cordial are generally such as to leave the publication of certificates of cures out of the question. The proprietor could produce a host of the most conclusive testimony to show that the great reputation it enjoys was not accidentally obtained, but is firmly based upon its positive and apparently miraculous virtues. In all directions are to be found the happy parents of healthy offsprings, who would not have been so but for this extraordinary preparation. And it is equally potent for many diseases for which it is recommended.

THE MEDICAL JOURNALS

have not, in a single instance that has been authenticated, given their sanction to any other preparation for the above complaints. It has, in many violent and desperate cases, effected realiest cures, after patients had been abandoned, and their condition promounced hopeless by medical practitioners of high professional character.

THE COMMON EXPRESSION

offected radical cures, after patients had been abandoned, and their condition pronounced hopeless by medical practitioners of high professional character.

of those who have used this Extract is: "I had heard your Cordial highly spoken of, but was one of the incredulous in regard to its merits, having tried various mediciness sold for the same purpose, (different Sarsaparillas,) without deriving any benefit. I had almost given up all hope of obtaining relief, when I purchased some of your Cordial. I had no faith whatever of its benefiting me—but it has. I feel stronger, have had no emissions since, although it is not three weeks. I am satisfied that the half a dozen bottles I took will cure me."

Another says: "I had consulted several distinguished physicians. Some said I could not be cured; others prescribed this thing and that; but I found no relief until I procured some of your Cordial. I must say it completely cured me."

Another says: "I was surprised at the effect your Cordial another says: "I was surprised at the effect your Cordial had. Why had I not heard of it before? It would have saved me so much expense, besides years of mental and bodily suffering."

CAUTION.—Ask for Dr. Morse's Cordial, and take no other, as there are worthless imitations which its unrivalled excellence, fame, and popularity have brought into the market. It will not hurt the most delicate female, but degood. Beware of all other Cordials, &c., and try only this. It is put up in pint bottles, with the words Dr. MORSE'S INVIGORATING CORDIAL blown on the glass. Price $3 per bottle; two bottles, $5; six bottles, $12; and $24 per dozen.

Disease of the Kidneys, Affections of the Head, Throat, Nose and Skin, Constitutional Debility, and all those horris affections arising from a Certain Secret Habit of Youth, that solitary practice, more fatal to its victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners of Ulysses—blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering Marriage, etc., impossible.

A CURE WARRANTED, OR NO CHARGE. Young Men especially, who have become the victims of solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which and nually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health.

Office, No. 7 South Froderick street, Baltimore, Maryland, on the left hand side, going from Baltimore street, seven doors from the corner. Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Concumption, &c., &c.

Mendally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion of Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arise from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become its victims, from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsis, Indigestion, derangement of the Nervous System, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption; also those serious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Depression of Spirits, or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is, they have been caused by indulging in Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from existence thousands who might have been of use to Society. NERVOUS DEBILITY.

their Country, a pleasure to their friends, and ornaments to Society.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

This grand and important Remedy has restored strength and vigor to thousands of the most debilitated individuals, many who had lost all hopes, and been abandoned to die. By its complete invigoration of the Nervous System, the whole faculties become restored to their proper power and functions, and the fallen fabric of life is raised up to beauty, consistency and duration, upon the ruins of an emaciated and premature decline, to sound and pristine health. Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly restored to health from the devastations of those terrific maladies which result from indiscretion! Such persons, before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston may religiously confide in his bonor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last ten years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. J., witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guaranty that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable observations.

guaranty that the afflicted will find a skilful and honoracle physician.

It is with the greatest reluctance that Dr. Johnston permits his card to appear before the public, deeming it unprofessional for a-physician to advertise; but unless he did so, the afflicted, especially strangers, could not full to full into the hands of those imprudent, boasting impostors—individuals destitute of knowledge, name, and character—pedlars, shoemakers, mechanics, &c., advertising themselves as physicians; ignorant ganeks, who keep you triffing month after month, as long as possible, and in despair leave you with rulined health to sigh over your galling disappointment. It is this motive alone that induces Dr. J. to advertice, for he alone can cure you. To those unacquainted with his reputation he deems it necessary to say, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his Office.

READ AND BE WISE!

THE celebrated German and Indian Physicians, Doctors BROTHERS & GRAY, have established a permanent medical office in this city, after having travelled the world over in search of knowledge; and, having spent seven years among the Indians for the purpose of getting a thorough knowledge of botany, they flatter themselves qualified to alleviate and cure all complaints to which the human family are subject. We flatter ourselves that, without asking a question, we will tell all who favor us with a call their complaints and symptoms, and guaranty an easy and speedy cure. A decided advantage we have over other medical men is in the manner we determine the nature and location of the disease, which is by the urine. We require at least two ounces of the first in the morning. The many facilities afforded us by hospital and private practice in this and foreign countries warrant us in assuring those who are suffering from disease that our treatment is attended with unusually favorable results; for, "to know the disease is half the cure." The Doctors' medicines are wholly vegatable, and prepared by themselves.

References can be had at our office from persons living in all the western counties of the State of New York, Pennsylvania, Canada, &c., who, having been given up to die by the Faculty, hearing of us, and availing themselves of our skill, have been restored to health.

Diseases successfully treated at this office are the following: Consumption, both nervous and pulmonary; also, Coughs, Colds, Brouchi is, and all pains arising from the chest. Lungs, or liver; all cases of Nervous Weakness, Neuralja, Hypochondriacal complaints; all cases of female weakness and obstructions; Dyspepsia, Salt Rheum, Syphilis, Piles, Gravel, and all Serofulous complaints; Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, and all complaints which require the blood to be pure and healthy, and to assist nature to perform her natural functions.

AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.

Execution of the Duke d'Enghien.

We have here, from the lips of the officer about.' whose duty it was to execute the sentence of the council of war, the report of a deed which not only startled every court of Europe-accustomed as were those courts to deeds of high-handed power and dark paths of state policy-but which, reverberating over the broad billows of the Atlantic, sent a thrill of horror and deep grief through the hearts of a people who knew no sympathy with legitimate sovereignty and the "divine right" of kings. But the Duke d'Enghien, although of the weak and selfish race of Bourbon, was all that the blunt soldier here describes him. He was beloved by the people of France, as well for the kindness of his heart as the fascination of his personal appearance, talents, and manners; and the betrothed of a beautiful and loving girl, from whose life he was thus abruptly, thus horribly torn. The enemies of Napoleon declaimed loudly against this "murder;" his friends were bewildered, except those immediately about his person, who stigmatized Caulaincourt as its virtual author. The truth is visible to the eve only of HIM " who judges the quick and the dead."

EXECUTION OF THE DUKE D'ENGHIEN. [Translated from "Les Salons Celebres."]

BY MISS HARRIETTE FANNING READ. Captain H**** was an intrepid soldier of our republican army; a true type of the military of that epoch: brave, even to heroism; loving liberty, and imagining that he fought for it; disdaining every science foreign to war; adoring Bonaparte, but discontented with the Emperor; grumbling at his decrees, yet obeying him like a slave, and permitting no one but himself to find fault with him. Inflexible in the discharge of his duty. otherwise humane, and ever generous. He had been put to the most cruel test which fate could have inflicted upon an officer of those days-he was chosen to command the file of select gendarmerie to execute the Duke d'Enghien.

Aroused at dead of night by the order to repair to the fosse of Vincennes, to do justice, as he was told, upon an officer convicted of treason by the council of war, he supposed himself called on for one of the melancholy duties imposed by disci-pline. The account he gave me of his sufferings on that horrible occasion is still fresh in my memory, in his own expressions, half grotesque, half pathetic.

"Such a misfortune!" he said; "and for me, who have always held those formalities in utter execration. But what could I do! It is all in the way of business; we must put up with it; we should be looked on as mere puppets if we made faces about shooting a deserter, or any poor devil who had been guilty of a little ill-temper his captain. So when the general sent to awaken me to execute the sentence of the council, I said nothing, although I was astonished at the hour chosen for such an expedition. One may get on with killing a man in broad-day; but at dead of night, by the light of a lantern fixed upon his heart—thunder! 'tis enough to shake the boldest!"

As he spoke, the ruddy face of Capt. H***** turned pale at the recollection. "Even without the consideration," he added, "that such underhanded measures always seem suspicious to me. Pshaw! I said to myself, the poor lad has made a blunder-he must pay for it. I dressed my men, and repeated my orders for them to be ready at the word: for some of those chaps, who can shoot Austrians like sparrows, don't know how to take aim at a comrade

"All of a sudden, a little door opened, out marched the fusiliers, and the patient, according to rule in the midst of them

"Ah, ah, thought I, examining him, this is no case from the ranks. What a noble air! what a fine expression! young, too-God forgive me hardly past thirty. And of good birth, for the officers salute him. With such a face, such courage would one think he deserved so vile a death These thoughts staggered me. I began to think the poor young man must be a brave officer, who was the victim of calumny. I was seized with such a suffocation; it seeemed as if my voice were lost-as if I could never utter the word 'Fire!' However, there was no way of backing out; it would not do to be shot in his place. Luckily, I saw him make a sign to one of our corps, as if he wished to speak to him. He gave him a paper. I thought he was trying to gain time. Good, said I, he is trifling. 'Tis a bitter moment, and he wants to put it off. This re-stored my self-possession: I could do my duty.' Here the captain paused, pale and overcome, as if the fatal report rang again upon his ear-Terror and indignation must have been strongly marked upon my countenance; for, as he raised his eyes to mine, he turned abruptly away, exclaiming, "You execrate me, don't you?" But how could I know who he was? How could I know that the council of war were in haste to despatch him, for fear the Emperor should pardon him? Could I even know that the paper which he gave to my comrade contained a lock of his hair-a last adieu to the woman that he loved? I believe, if I had but suspected all this, I should never have found strength to have ordered him fired upon; and yet Heaven knows how I have hated all the Bourbons since the infernal machine. But he looked like so brave an officer! and his expression, that of a soldier who has nothing to reproach himself with, and who can smile at death! The glance of sympathy We are gratified to be which he cast upon us seemed to say, men, I pity you more than myself, for you are about to kill a good Frenchman; and when you shall have learned his innocence, the deed will press upon your hearts like a crime." And yet yet, Madame," continued the captain, striking his breast, "my conscience was clear; but when, on retiring from this melancholy duty, I saw my comrade, M***, faint away, like a woman—when this poor youth, who had been brought up with the ci-devant Prince of Condé, sobbed, as he told us that we had slain an innocent person-that the young man, so brave, so beautiful, who lay pierced by our bullets, was the Duke d'Enghienit was like a blow upon my heart; and God knows how I cursed them who had given us such a commission! For do not be deceived, Madame it never came from the Emperor. No, no; not thus he deals with his enemies. He kills them in broad day—at the risk of being himself cut down by a bullet. But it was the deed of some of those old parasites of the court who were afraid of coming under the lash, should those whom they had supplanted ever return. It was they who took it upon themselves to have a Bourbon shot, thinking to please the General highly. Well, well, they deceived themselves; for I know, through my cousin, who is attached to the bed-chamber at the Tuilleries, that when Josephine, her face convulsed and bathed with tears, ushed into his room, exclaiming, 'Oh, my God, what has pa done! The Duke d'Enghien is dead! the Emperor turned pale, and said, in a stifled voice, 'Mistaken men, they have been too rash!' I know that for several days he remained in a state of deep depression; that he did not sleep for several nights. Ah, the recollection of those what he has suffered: and he is right; the thing Convention last week.

is done; it must be endured; but, believe me, so long as he lives, he will detest those who advised it, and even the poor devils who, like myself, completed it, without knowing what we were

CREDITABLE.—The partisan press is beginning the political contest for the Presidency in a tone of courtesy and moderation quite creditable to

We are gratified to learn the fact, having thought the contempt, ridicule, and abuse of Gen. Scott by the party opposed to him indicative of a lack of courtesy and moderation.

Mexican war, in the form of an informal note, he is ridiculed. For preserving perfect order in the army under his command, enforcing discipline, leading on to an uninterrupted series of victories, conquering and subduing the foe, and then conciliating them and securing their affection, gratitude, and admiration, he is ridiculed and abused. No living man so well deserves the deep gratitude and bighest honors his country can exhibit, and no living man has been so signally ridiculed and abused; and yet the contest is conducted with courtesy and moderation !"
